

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

to promote circular economy and combat marine pollution
Participate in the Blue Champion Award and get the chance of winning a prize of a maximum value of USD 5000.

1. Are you a young entrepreneur (aged between 18-40 years) operating a business that promotes circular economy and combats marine pollution?
Or
2. Are you a young person (aged between 18-40 years) who have an innovative idea within the concept of circular economy that aims at considerably reducing marine pollution?

If so, this is your chance to take your business or concept to a higher level by responding to this call for application initiated by the Indian Ocean Commission (IOC) for the:

1. Blue Champion Award - Best Ocean Entrepreneur Category;

2. Blue Champion Award - Best Innovative Concept Category.

What is circular economy?

Circular economy is the most recent attempt to conceptualize the integration of economic activity and environmental and social wellbeing in a sustainable way. The concept places emphasis on the redesigning of processes and cycling of materials, which may contribute to a more sustainable business model. The system aims to redefine growth and focuses on positive society-wide benefits. Three principles encompass circular economy: designing out waste and pollution, keeping products and materials in use and regenerating natural systems.

The Blue Champion Award aims at promoting the emergence of young entrepreneurs and innovative ideas for the promotion of circular economy to fight marine pollution in the African and Indian Ocean Developing Island States (AIODIS).

This Award is being organized in the context of the Indian Ocean Commission SWIOFISH2 Project, funded by the World Bank. This is the first time that such an Initiative is being launched in the AIODIS, namely Cabo Verde, Comoros, Guinea Bissau, Madagascar, Maldives, Mauritius, Reunion Island, São Tomé and Príncipe, and Seychelles.

You can submit your application if you meet the eligibility criteria listed below.
